

Eco? No! My!

Our spaceship Earth
with its blueish shell its seas and plains and deserts gave evolution birth to create this species man who deems himself intelligent and found in wisdom's blossom that growth needs to be sustained.
Man is built for herds and tribes but ends up ruthless, greedy, treachery when neighbour's garden bears the better fruit.
Economy forgets these simple facts in its mutual back and forth where growth the throbbing power where profits fill the gap of wheeling freely where there is no place for warmth and care.
